OHIO'S CAMPAIGN OPEN.
The campaign is opened in Ohio. To the candidacy of Major McKinley, for the Republicans, is opposed that of Gov. Campbell, whom the Democrats yesterday renominated. Each party presents as its standard-bearer a man against whose personal character no opponent can make and support a single damaging allegation. The struggle during the canvass and at the polls is to be conducted upon a great National issue, that of the tariff.

Both parties have frankly and openly accepted this issue as the basis of the contest. The battles for votes become, therefore, one of National interest. But Gov. Campbell's renomination was opposed in Convention for reasons either personal or local. Since he triumphed over this opposition, fair-minded men of both parties should hope that those personal and local impulses may not be dropped, in order that the great contest may go fairly and squarely on the great questions, unhampered by side issues of limited interest.

Let the campaign be one between undivided parties, on broad grounds of principle. It is not a time to burden real politics with personal partisanship. The humblest contributor, giving out of a generous heart to a great cause of humanity, receives equal credit with the millionaire who endows a philanthropic institution with a fortune. Remember this in helping to swell the Free Doctors Fund. In such true and popular charities is the true democracy of dimes and dollars.

The Alliance whoop rings strongly in the land of the Georgians. "We don't care a bumble nor a fig about any party," cried Gen. Weaver, yesterday, at Atlanta. Yet the spirit of Jerry Nye's remarks seems to be that parties are to be compelled to divide with the Alliance, not only figs and bumbles, but socks, as well.

The White Hills district, in Connecticut, may soon be rid of its school tax. Not a child has been born in that district in nine years, and the youngest pupil existing there is getting about as far along as the district school can carry her.

The cost of the Administration Building at the World's Fair is to be $275,492. Political managers will observe that this is far below the cost of building an Administration.

The Standard Oil Company will erect its tanks in Amsterdam. In this case, it is the oil kings who have taken Holland. It may be remarked that this beats the Dutch.

As the books now stand, Supt. Porter, of the Census Bureau, owes a large apology to the city's Financial Department. Will he settle?

THE CLEANER.
Actor Richard Mansfield says that he is entitled to a day off occasionally, just the same as any other workingman, and nobody will dispute him. Just at present he is luxuriating in the soft and cooling breezes from the sound at Fenwick Hall, the paradise of the "profession."

I hear no end of grumbling and complaint from certain residents of Washington Heights over the strictness to provide rapid transit that will render more accessible that beautiful portion of the island. The Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association has been very active of late in the matter of securing street improvements, but the belief is indulged in that the much-desired means of rapid transportation are very far off.

Dr. Chauncey M. Depew always comes back from his European trips primed with a fresh stock of humorous yarns of a peculiar United States flavor. Americans who travel abroad wonder where he manages to pick them up. They seem to forget that when Dr. Depew is interested from the care of his big railroad interests, and far away from the busy hum of politics, he has an excellent opportunity to give his lively imagination full swing. Dr. Depew's friends say that if he didn't happen to be a railroad president he would probably be one of the greatest inventors of the age.

Edward W. Berge, that talented young composer, is making quite a reputation among musicians in this city, and I am told that his compositions are meeting with considerable success. The other night I heard a portion of a comic opera he is writing, and I was forcibly struck with the tunefulness and originality of the music.

The season of record-breaking performances by the fast ocean liners has now fairly begun. After the quick passage of the country of some of the new German steamships the Indian people feel that they must look to their laurels. If the City of Paris does not do some record-smashing business within the next two months it will not be for want of ambitious effort.

I notice that Justus Schwab, once the head and front of the Socialistic contingent in New York, is coming to the country of some of the new German steamships the Indian people feel that they must look to their laurels. If the City of Paris does not do some record-smashing business within the next two months it will not be for want of ambitious effort.

Inspector Byrne, who has been unusually busy this summer with important cases which have compelled him to remain in town up to the present time, has just stolen away to the country for a few days' rest and recreation. He goes down to a quiet little place in the vicinity of Long Branch, where he will be able to enjoy the sea breeze and the sun without the bother of the city.

Burned With His Own Barn.
LIVERMORE FALLS, Me., July 16.—During a heavy thunderstorm in North Jay, buildings owned by R. E. Bryant, were struck by lightning and burned. Bryant, who was in the barn at the time, perished in the flames. Two buildings at Head's Corner were also destroyed.

Not Good Weather for Steam Boats.
Charles A. Crowley, dealer in steam heating machinery at 32 Church street, made an announcement today to John W. Barlow, with provisions of $5,235.50.

THE OTHER SIDE.
"Well," I queried, as I sat down beside a hard-looking man on the bridge the other day.
"Well, I suppose you want to inquire why I don't go to work—why I don't go West—why I don't try farming—why I am not way up in 'G' as a member of society?" he replied.
"That's it."

If you are a good walker and haven't any business on hand suppose you take a day's tramp with me in search of work or a common laborer can do. Or, if you or any other gent will put on my duds and go out and find work I'll agree to go to jail for six months. You'll find ten men ready to fill every vacant place.

Very thin gossamer nets, the more transparent the better, are used for veils. Many of them are black, spangled with gold. Some have a pin point spot woven in the net, and a chenille spot of larger size over it. Sometimes the spots are arranged so that they do not come over the face at all, but only at the side, and this is especially so with the thinest spots. Many new cobweb nets have been brought out, the one desideratum seeming to be exceeding fineness.
